

THOMSON & SCOTT

TASTE TOMORROW TODAY.

AMANDA THOMSON

FOUNDER OF THOMSON & SCOTT

Amanda Thomson, CEO and Founder of B Corp Certified Thomson & Scott, was voted one of Business Insider's Coolest People in Food & Drink 2019. Leading the global shift to alcohol-free drinking, in September 2019 Thomson launched game-changing Noughty - the first top quality organic, vegan, halal non-alcoholic, low sugar sparkling wine.

Thomson & Scott is also driving the debate for greater transparency in wine production and labelling. Thomson wants consumers to push to know what's in their wine bottle. To this end, the company produces limited edition no added sugar vegan Champagne, top quality organic and vegan Prosecco alongside its alcohol-free bottle - Noughty.

Raised on a plant-based, no sugar diet by her health-conscious mother, Thomson has always had a keen interest as to what's in her food. Formerly an Arts Broadcaster at the BBC, Thomson moved her young family to Paris and studied for her Diploma in Wine at the renowned Le Cordon Bleu School where she was Entrepreneur of the Year 2017 and an EY Winning Woman. Thomson is also now a Department of International Trade Export Champion 2019-20.

OUR PORTFOLIO

SKINNY

Thomson & Scott Skinny Prosecco was launched to a huge media fanfare in 2016 and became the most searched for product on Selfridges' entire website. It sold out in its first three weeks on the shelves. The Times called it "a gift from God."

Its use of 100% organic Glera grapes and vegan certified credentials are only matched by the unique blend that enables us to avoid adding unnecessary sugar to the process. At 7g of sugar added per litre, it uses roughly half the amount of a traditional Prosecco.

NOGHTY

ORGANIC
SPARKLING WINE

ALCOHOL FREE

NOGHTY

This beautifully created sparkling wine is produced using 100% organic Chardonnay grapes as part of a vegan production method. It is then dealcoholised using a specialised extraction technique and lightly carbonated to give it its essential bubbles.

The result is a crisp, elegant wine with subtle aromas that can beautifully echo equivalent alcoholic sparkling wines. It avoids pesticides, herbicides and any added perfumes, so the wine is as pure as we can make it.

"It is, hands down, the best alcohol-free sparkling wine I have ever tasted, and one of the best alcohol-free wines I've tasted overall."
