AUTUMN WINTER 2020

CARTWRIGHT ENGLAND & BUTLER

When Gordon Arnett first opened his cake shop in the pretty Yorkshire town of Beverley in 1946, little did he know that over seventy years later the family would still be making and sourcing delicious teatime treats.

Passionate about baking and confectionery, the Arnett family breathed new life into the Cartwright & Butler brand when they acquired it at the start of this decade. It's now a household name, not only here but in over forty countries worldwide.

Never ones to rest on our laurels, we've been busy developing an exciting new look for the brand as well as adding to our range of teatime treats. The iconic pastel hues of our eye-catching and giftable clip-top tins have been joined by decadent accent colours to help our products stand out on shelf.

There are new biscuits, confectionery, preserves, Christmas specialities and even a gin that will ensure you can curate a range of delicious teatime treats for your customers.

As a company, we remain committed to delivering the exceptional. Everything we make is created to bring real pleasure and a sense of occasion whenever and wherever it is enjoyed. In pursuit of this, attention to detail is everything.

It is our promise to you that every one of our products is of the very highest quality.

SHORTBREAD COLLECTION

Made with only the finest ingredients our biscuits have become world-renowned and now we've added this tempting new recipe to our shortbread range.

We used our classic shortbread recipe but added chips of dark, salted caramel. The result, if we say so ourselves is a rather unique shortbread that's sure to become a classic all of it's own.

LOOSE LEAF TEA

Tea is never just tea. Everything from the soil to the climate, the pick and the blend, will affect the quality of the cup.

That's why we've worked with master tea blenders to bring this new range of loose leaf teas. Available now, our signature clip-top tins feature illustrations of the tea's origins around the tea plantations of Sri Lanka.

SPIRIT OF ADVENTURE

When we noticed that what afternoon tea really misses is a gin that's designed to complement those dainty sandwiches, we set about creating one.

Working with a small-batch Yorkshire distiller, we landed on this deliciously light and refreshing London Dry gin.

Juniper is blended with our own Darjeeling Tea and Acacia Honey and with lemon, coriander and warm spice botanicals to create a gin which is the perfect afternoon tea tippie.

Presented in an oh-so-beautiful keepsake tin, this gin won't fail to make an impression.
