Modular Storage Rigs

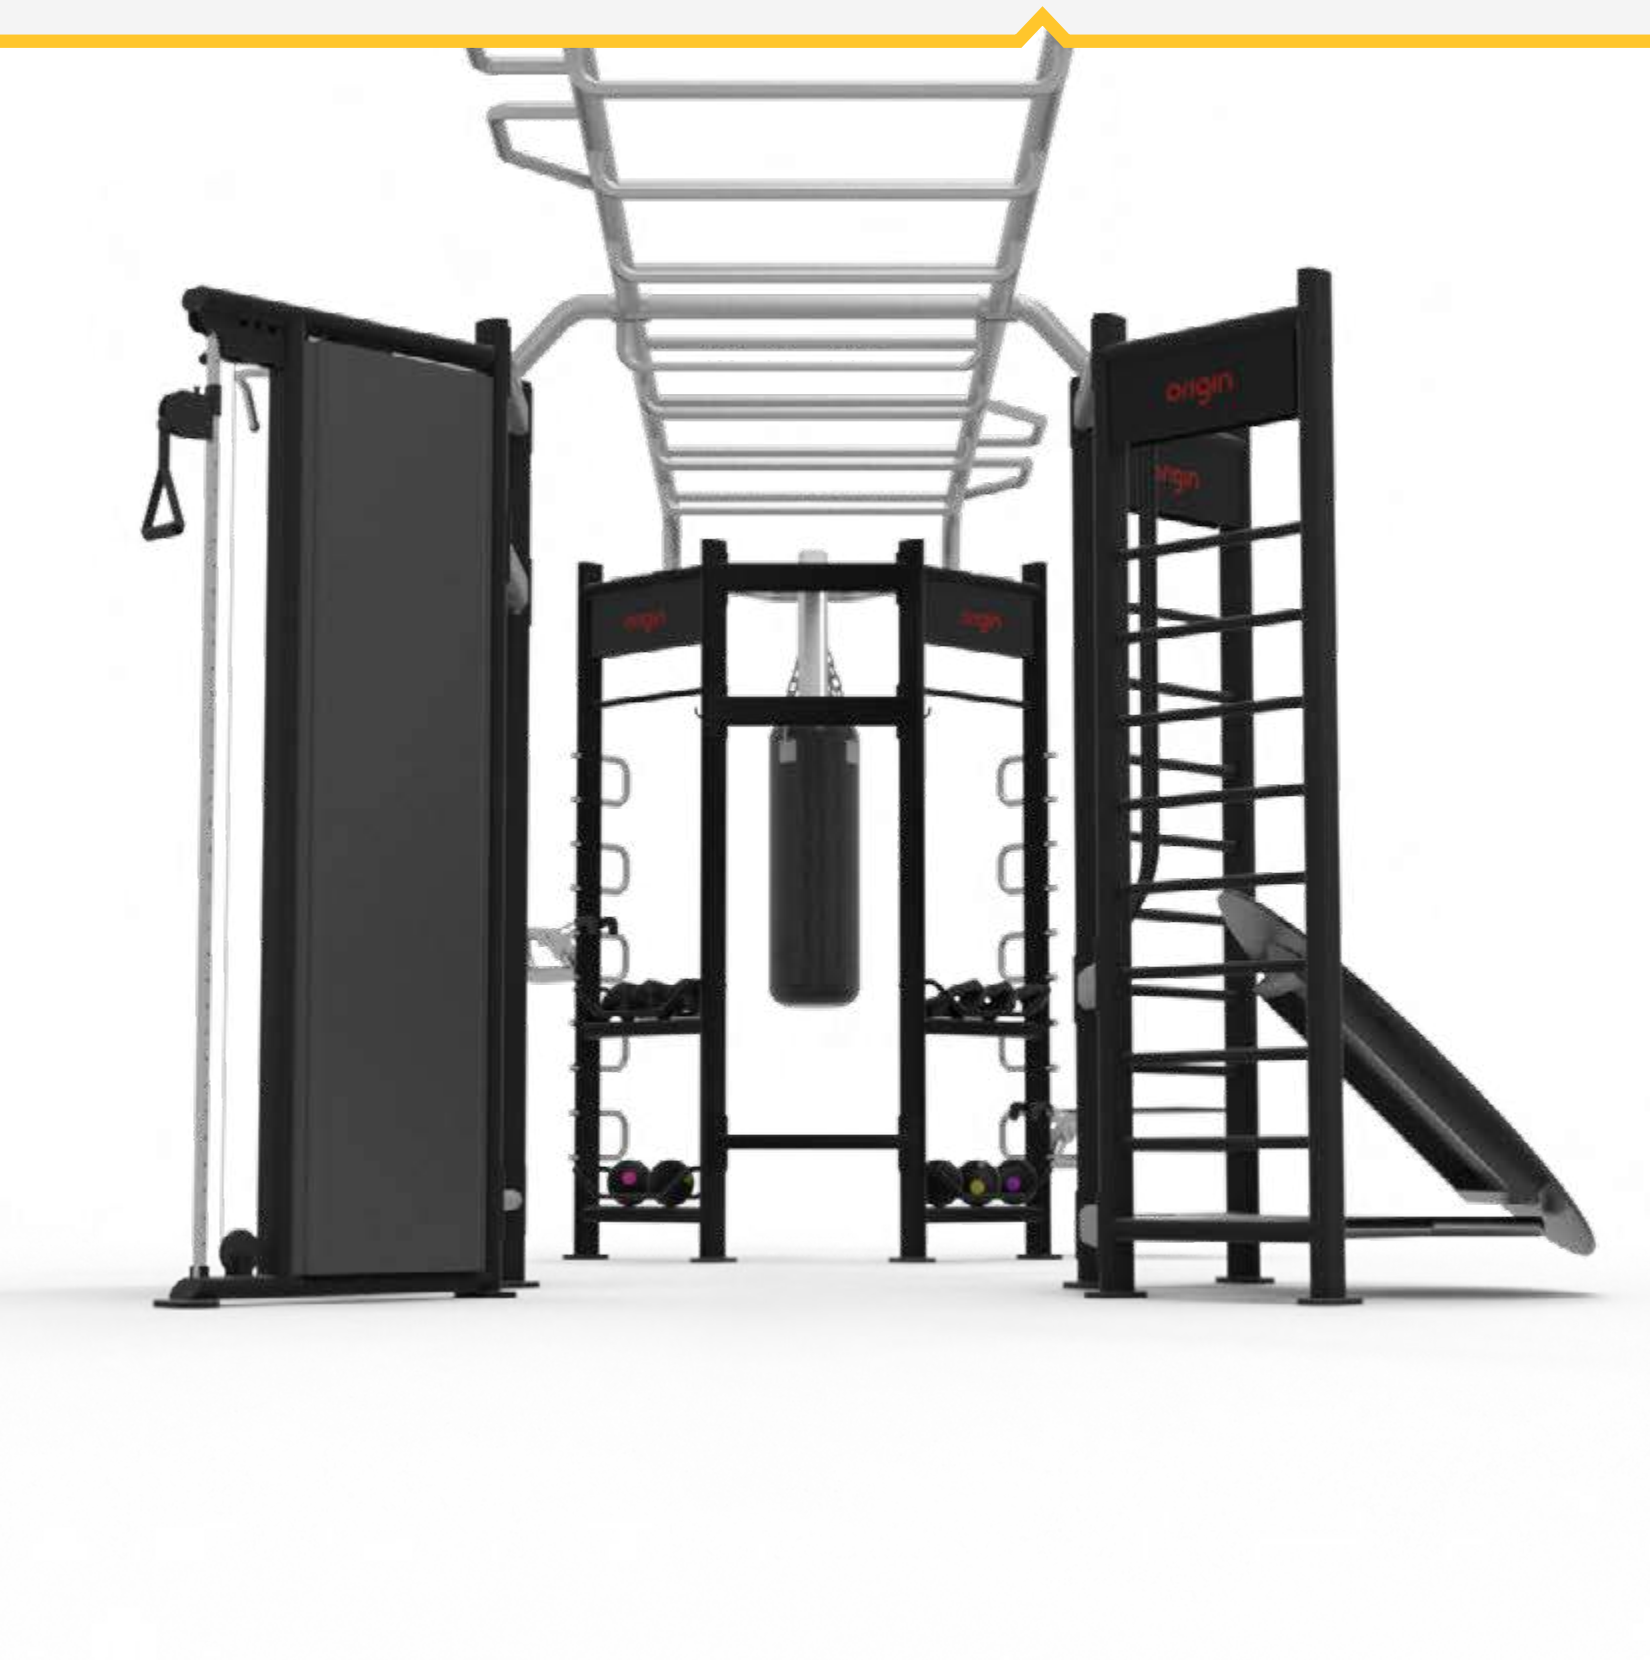

Functional Rigs

The Origin Functional Rig combines the best features of a functional rig with some gym floor favourites to create a modular system that maximises the space available. Build in features like a half rack, rebounder, boxing station and even dual adjustable pulley to create a rig that can change the way your gym floor works for the better.

We've included a quick overview of the configurations, but for a full breakdown of all available components we recommend you ask your account manager for a copy of the complete Functional Rig Brochure.

X Configuration

The X rig configuration is the largest configuration. It incorporates four of the five workout stations, two ladders joined by a single connector and also any attachments that might be required. There are five possible combinations without repeating any stations.

This rig offers the greatest total of available workout space, meaning this configuration allows for the most users at any one time.

The dimensions of the Origin Fitness functional rigs will vary depending on the station selection, however the given dimensions indicate a rough area covered.

H Configuration

The H functional rig configuration consists of four workout stations, joined by a special ladder connector. The key feature of the H functional rig is it's ability to accommodate multiple users on a wide variety of stations while not requiring the space necessary for an X rig. Four workout stations and a functional area in between all confined within a small 4.2m x 2.9m area.

I Configuration

The I rig configuration is slim and compact and allows for a lot of outside area to be brought into play. If space is at a premium the I rig is a perfect solution. Although there are just two workout stations, there are a multitude of different station configurations which allow for greater personalisation and customisation. Which is a perfect anchor point for TRX or suspension training products as well as a great tool for performing bodyweight exercises.

L Configuration

The L functional rig configuration combines the best of an S & an I rig. The incorporation of a third workout station enables huge amounts of personalisation and customisation. This allows users to tailor the rig to meet specific workout needs and requirements. The two adjacent workout stations are joined by an S Connector and the other station is joined with a ladder.

Despite not having an overhead ladder connector, the pull up handles on the stretch and DAP stations can still facilitate bodyweight and suspension training exercises.

O Configuration

The O rig configuration is similar to the H configuration, however, it has a little more open space between stations. This means that it takes up a little more floor area, but also offers increased training space. Whilst the H rig only allows users to pass through the inside in one direction, the O rig features a cross roads style design.

The four stations face away from each other, meaning any space between can be used for training, and are all joined together by a ladder.

S Configuration

The S rig configuration is the most compact configuration there is. Consisting of only two stations and one S-Joint Connector, the S rig enables selections of two stations out of the five available.

This means requirements can really be pinpointed and addressed in a small area. The S rig, for it's size, can be utilized in many different ways - especially when paired with the available attachments.

With the choice of three stations from the five available there are lots of configurations available to address whatever needs or requirements a specific facility might have. This rig configuration gives your facility a wide range of exercise options, but maintains enough space around each station for users to work underneath the ladder and move through between the arms of the T.

Origin Functional Rig - Step Attachment

| DIMENSIONS | WEIGHT |
|-----------------------|--------|
| 749mm x 650mm x 289mm | 16.3kg |

Like the Dip Attachment, this hooks directly onto the hooks on the vertical frames of the boxing and stretch stations.

The height adjustability plays a key factor in these as they can be used as aerobic steps, or as plyometric platforms, which both benefit from differing height levels.

Origin Functional Rig - Dip Attachment

| DIMENSIONS | WEIGHT |
|-----------------------|--------|
| 940mm x 624mm x 289mm | 12.6kg |

The Dip Attachment connects to the vertical parts of the frame on the boxing and stretch stations.

This adds additional value and functionality of these stations, and thus to the rig itself. Users can do bodyweight dips with this attachment. They can also be made easier/harder by incorporating extra weight or power bands into the workout.

Performance Rigs

The Origin Performance Rig is our most simple and effective functional rig solution. Every essential feature in a functional rig – this setup has it covered. The performance rig option is perfect for CrossFit boxes or spaces where weightlifting space and pull up bars are a requirement. This allows you to configure a free-standing or wall-mounted system with multiple squat racks, pull up stations, wall ball targets and even dipping/step stations.

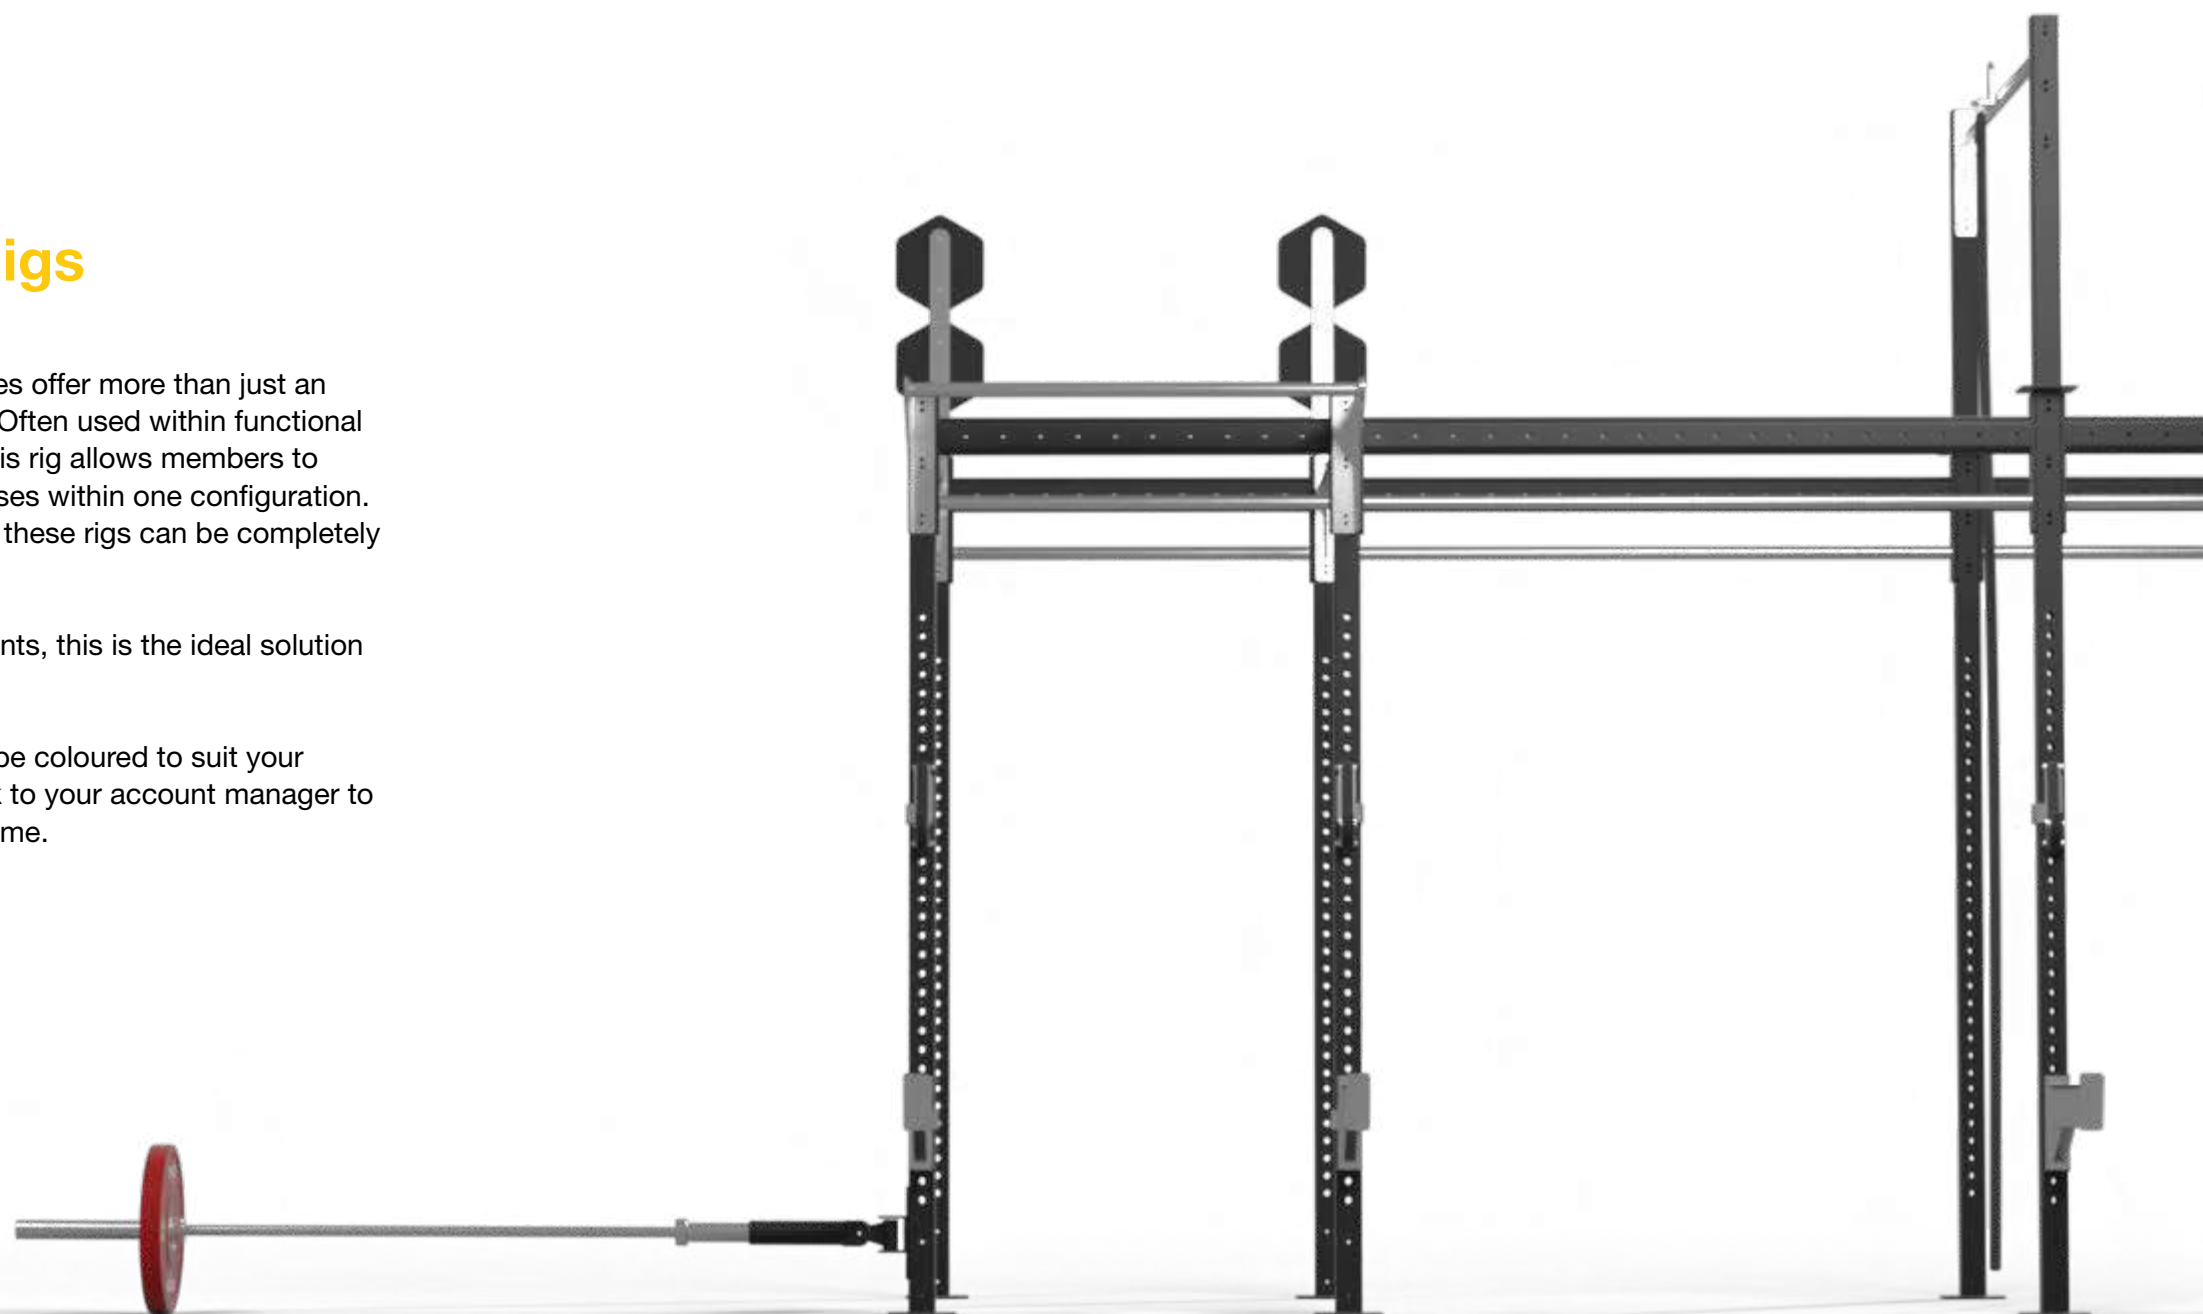

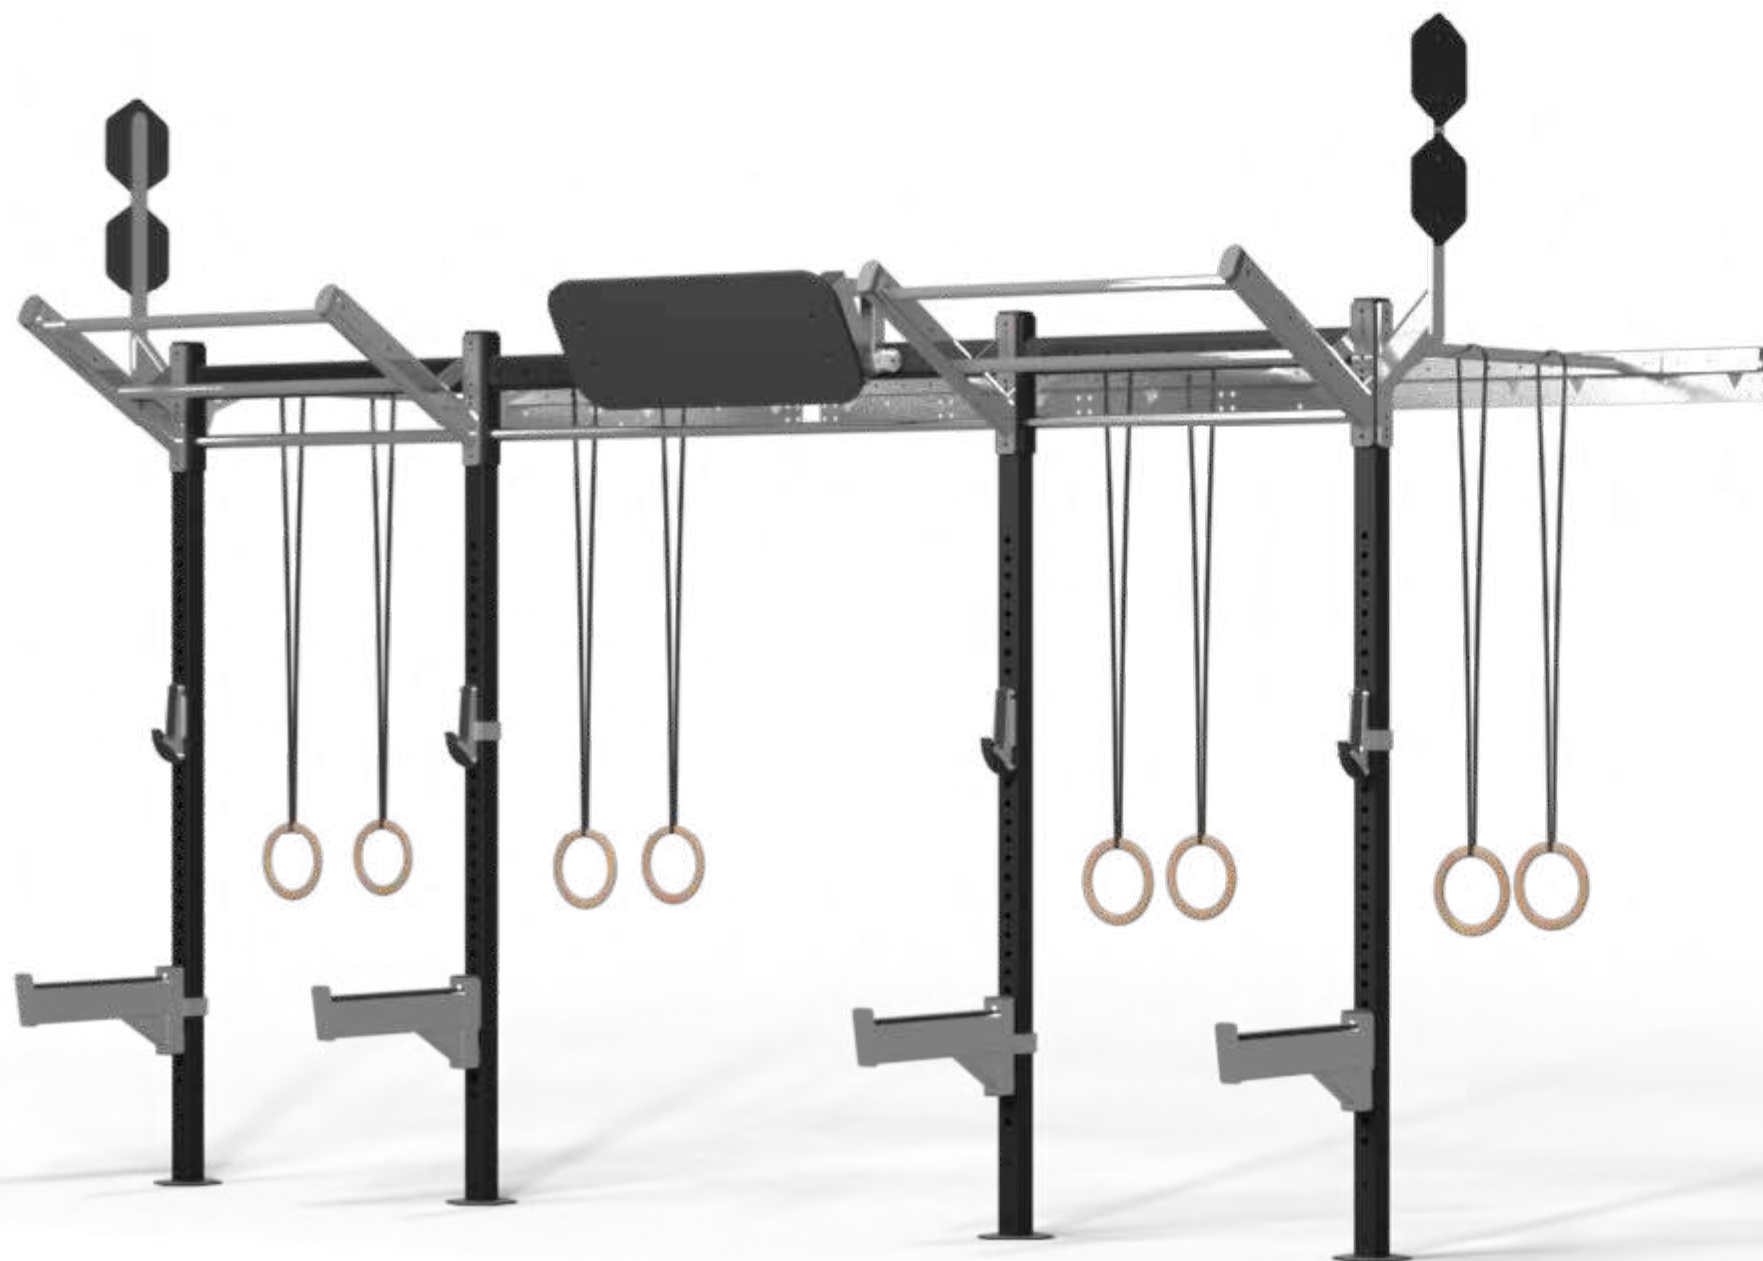

Free Standing Performance Rigs

These free standing centre pieces offer more than just an amazing looking workout zone. Often used within functional zones or cross training gyms, this rig allows members to perform a large variety of exercises within one configuration. The shape, height and length of these rigs can be completely customised to suit your space.

Combines with added attachments, this is the ideal solution for group training classes.

All of our performance rigs can be coloured to suit your facilities branding. Please speak to your account manager to find out if this affects your leadtime.

Wall Mounted Performance Rigs

This space saving configuration is wall mounted, making it extra secure and stable. You can choose to use the bays as weight lifting racks, TRX stations, wall ball tagrets or anything else you'd like.

A monkey ladder runs along the wall to serve as a connection point, and provides further training bays for members.

This rig style is often found in cross-training zones and boxes, as they provide immense training variety within a small footprint. These can be as long as your space allows, or built as a single rack against a wall.

Gym Design

Origin offers high quality, bespoke gym design solutions. We apply our gym design principles across the board, from personal trainer studios to independent clubs, local authorities and hotels to sports clubs and CrossFit boxes.

With a wealth of experience, we are able to call upon different experts from within our team depending on your specific requirements. This allows us to provide an individually tailored proposal and an exceptional gym design service from start to finish.

The Process

Custom Branding

Concepts

Testimonials

“

Each project is treated on an individual basis. The clients will discuss the brief and the type of gym they are thinking of having.

The Process

To begin with we'll have an initial consultation to help us understand your objectives. The design process starts with a complete understanding of what type of facility you want to create, the USP's that your business is built upon and an even better understanding of the target customer who's going to use the space.

In order to create the perfect training space our experience designers will advise on layout, interiors, flooring and finishes, as well as guiding you to your final choice in fitness equipment.

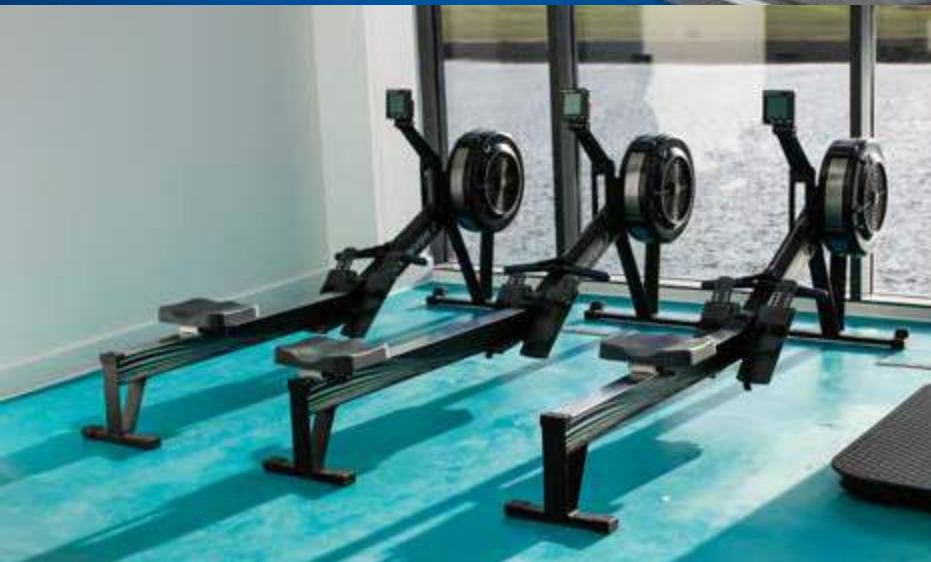

Visualisation

We can help you visualise your project using 3D designs and 360° video walkthroughs using the latest software and VR headsets.

Once you're happy with the plans, we'll put the wheels in motion to have our team of experts prepare the site for installation, train your staff on equipment and help put together marketing plans all before final installation.

Equipment and Zoning

- Understanding the activity that goes on at a client's facility helps us create zoned layouts which maximise the use of every square foot, ensuring we create a safe, friendly and exciting gym environment.
- We will recommend equipment from our industry leading range of brands for these zones based on the type of gym user, type of training activity, and budget.

Flooring

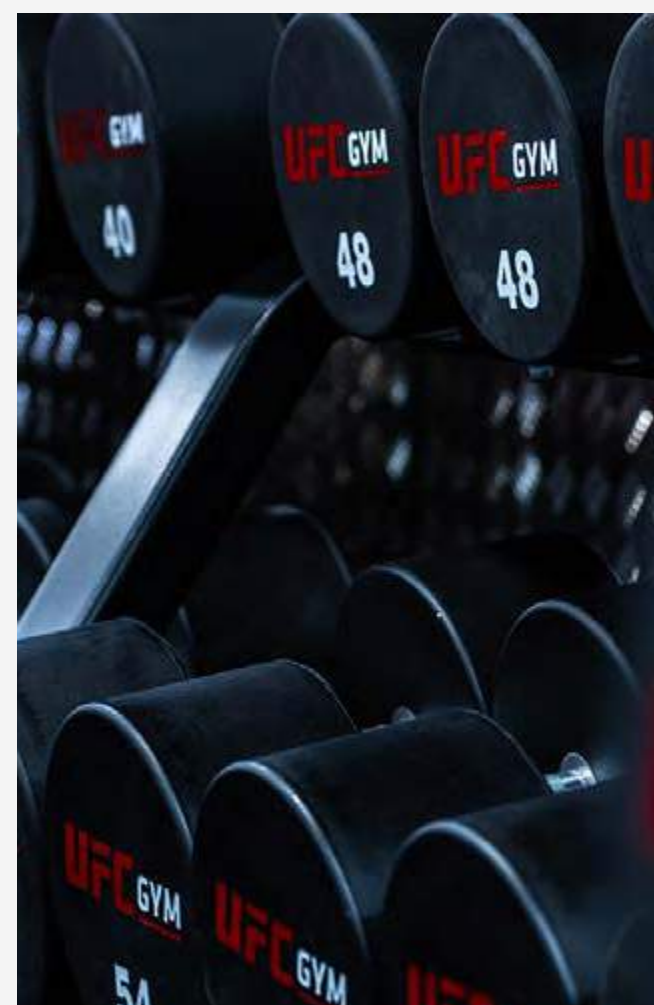

- Flooring is crucial to ensure the longevity of a gym's equipment and protecting the fabric of your building.
- As well as functionality being a huge driver in flooring choice, the design element has become increasingly important with custom branding, designs, colours and marking being features in many of our gym designs.

Interior Design

- The look and feel of a gym can be influenced greatly by the interior design; mirrors, artwork and use of lighting can help create the desired ambience.
- One popular service Origin offer is the design and creation of full wall graphics and wall vinyls such as Tour de France images in cycling studios and motivational quotes on PT studio mirrors.

Branding and Signage

- Ensuring the different zones within a gym are clearly signposted and making clear the rules and requirements for both safe and friendly facility use, can go a long way in creating the type of gym your want.
- As well as gym signage, Origin can provide workout posters to guide members around their workout when a trainer is not immediately available.

Custom Branding

Origin offers a high quality, bespoke custom branding service. We can apply bespoke custom branding to our stretch mats, weight plates, dumbbells, fixed barbells and much more.

Reinforcing your brand across all your customer touch points helps add that extra level of style and professionalism that many gyms don't consider.

As well as providing assistance with wall branding, signage and graphics as part of our marketing support packages, we are also able to provide options for custom branded gym equipment.

Service

Origin is proud to provide service through our own qualified service engineers who work in partnership with an extensive network of independent engineers on behalf of the brands we supply.

With engineers across the UK, the company can offer guaranteed 48 hour response time to any service request. At origin we are committed to maintaining an exceptional level of service across all areas of our operations.

This is why we are the only UK fitness equipment company to be awarded three independent internationally recognised accreditations: ISO9001 (Quality Management Systems), ISO14001 (Environmental Management System) and ISO18001 (Occupational Health and Safety Management).

Our in house team of engineers look after installations, equipment servicing, maintenance and refurbishment. We have a central warehouse located in Edinburgh, which holds parts at all times for current ranges alongside previous two generations of each piece of equipment we sell.

An inventory of parts is also kept with the service engineers which allows for a more effective callout response and also higher first time fix rates.

Origin will ensure an engineer is on site within 48 business hours of a fault being logged. We have an average response time within 24 hours and boast a first time fix rate of 98%.
